FINANCIAL MANAGER Exam Practice Questions and Dumps Edward Elgar Publishing

Have you ever thought about what it would really be like to be an accountant? What kind of training do you need? What will it be like on the job? What kind of jobs can you get? Is accounting the right career for you? This book is intended to answer those questions and many more. Many people go into the field of accounting without fully understanding the demands of the career. Many also spend four or more years studying accounting, only to find that it is not the career for them, or that the field will not fully accept them due to elements in their previous life. There is nothing worse than watching someone complete a full accounting course of study, only to find out that the DUI that they got as an 18-year old prevents them from getting the job they just spent 6 years training for!

Accounting is a highly competitive field. The decisions you make before you begin your career can be just as important, if not more so, than the decisions you make at the beginning of your career. The school you study at, the courses you take, your grades, and even your extra-curricular activities can determine whether you start your career at a top agency or at a smaller firm. The larger and more prestigious the firm you begin your career at, the greater your opportunities, and your salary, can be for the remainder of your accounting career. Before you consider an accounting career, read the FAQs in this book, and their answers. This book can help you decide if an accounting career is right for you, and if so, how to best prepare yourself for success.

As highlighted in our February 1997 high-risk series report, 'one of the greatest challenges to improving financial management throughout the Department of Defense (DOD) is establishing a well-qualified, professional financial management workforce. Our objective in a series of assignments is to provide information on qualifications, such as formal education, training, and professional certifications, and professional work experience of personnel serving in key financial management positions in DOD. Due to concerns on the part of DOD officials regarding the completeness of personnel databases and personnel files, we are obtaining this information from biographies and/or profile instruments provided by each manager. This is the fourth of our planned reports on the qualifications and experience of DOD'S financial management workforce. It contains information we obtained on key financial managers in the Department of the Navy. We have already issued reports on key financial managers within the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller) and the Departments of the Air Force and Army. Also, we plan to issue a report on the Defense Finance and Accounting Service. As agreed with DOD officials, our reviews are confined to key financial management positions. These positions most often include comptrollers, deputy comptrollers, and budget officers at major commands and installations. These reports can help Defense agencies in shaping their plans to enhance the qualifications and work experience, such as formal education and training, of their financial management workforce, as necessary. In addition, the reports provide baseline information that can be helpful in monitoring progress. Financial
